

Planning For Existing Trees Through Construction

Led by Nidus Consulting

ASLA Oregon Mt. Hood Section in partnership with Northwest Recreation of Oregon are pleased to announce a talk on tree health and maintenance practices during construction by Ryan Gilpin, principal consultant of Nidus Consulting. Followed by a walking tour in the Portland Buckman neighborhood. Admission and tour fees for registrants will be covered by ASLA Oregon.

Ryan Gilpin provides arboricultural and ecological consulting services, and he will share his knowledge and expertise in tree conservation and preservation practices that help to protect selected trees throughout the construction planning and development process so that they will continue to provide benefits for decades after site disturbance.

The tour will be followed by a happy hour at the Revolution Hall, sponsored by Jim Ringelberg and Northwest Recreation of Oregon.

Click here to register for the tree care and maintenance during construction event and happy hour by 02/19/2023. Space limited to the first 20 RSVPs.
